The persons used a brace and bit and bored out the iron bars across one of the windows and entered the rear Saturday or Sunday night some one succeeded in entering the lobby of the State Theatre and tried to break into the candy vending machine there and failed.

During last week an attempt was made to enter the United States Bank and resulted in failure.

GREAT OGEECHEE RIPPLES

—By The Dabbler—

Strawberry shortcake is seasonally gone. Deep, juicy, Blackberry cobbler will soon be passe. However, shortcakes can be made with pineapple, fresh peaches, and apricots. And, watermelon is good just raw and cold. The ice houses have them to sell from the storage room. They just about freeze your teeth. Whee . . . they are good. Really, we believe watermelons have some medicinal qualities, unless fixed with some foreign matter (probably matter is not the word). We have been thinking about starting a fresh-fruit contest. If we thought we could get enough to enter, we would not hesitate. Naturally, we would be the judge. All this, and more, too is native here.

You don't have to smell the pulp mill as you go through Savannah to Tybee in order to get your sea breeze. Last Sunday afternoon the sea breeze nearly blew us out of bed, sixty . . . miles from the ocean.

Furthermore, you don't have to go to Wisconsin, the home of the Burlington Liar's Club to get big fish tales. Oh, Gee, Oh, Gosh. We hate to tell it. But, "anyhow," as Gracie would say, one of our church, civic, bank, social, and wholesale-grocer (I'm not referring to Thad Morris either) leaders told a Golly-whopper at the Rotary Club meeting the other day.

This rather tall gentleman said he was fishing and the fish bit so fast he could hardly bait his hook. He caught so many Blue Breems, so fast, it made a hole in the pond. And this hole made his boat list at a forty-five degree angle. Finally, it got so bad, he had to stop fishing. Then he could hardly paddle the boat out of the hole. It was just like going up a dam in heavy water.

With such loose, disconnected, flimflammed, unscriptured veracity, it is almost useless to tell a true fish story, anymore. A real, true, unusual fish story would be about as shallow and empty as a little remark at a conference of pious, ecclesiastical dignitaries at vesper time. "Anyhow," again, we wish to reiterate that we are on a watermelon diet. And, we can prove this one.

Nattie Allen, who enjoys paddling a boat, went fishing with a summer or so ago. We carried meal, cooking oil, salt, coffee, cream, pickles, etc. We expected to catch our meat. Nattie said there wasn't a . . . thing the matter with our pitching and casting, but it wasn't helping our prospect for supper, as we hadn't caught the first fish. Just about sundown, a Mullet jumped near some cash for several weeks but it is not one of the major money crops.

The melon market opened strong. The Bulloch crop is some smaller than in previous years but is still large enough to make the returns felt by business in this section.

The cotton crop will be well under way to market before the tobacco is sold. The some 30,000 acres of cotton bids to be one of the best cotton crops the county has produced if adverse weather does not curtail the turn-out.

Hogs, which will return the county more cash than any other enterprise in 1939, will be going on the market stronger every week from now until early spring. The 3,300 farmers will have more than 50,000 porkers to exchange for cash during this marketing season. This is the largest hog crop in the county's history.

Jumbo peanuts will also have a place in the returns for the farmers planting this crop in early fall. Peanuts returned some $75,000 last year. Cattle are being sold each week now and will reach a peak in the spring. More cattle and better cattle will be for sale this season than during the past marketing year. Corn should find a place to add to the income in many farms if the present condition of the crop is any indication as to the fall yields. Near 100,000 acres are planted to corn this year.

The hope of every Bulloch county farmer is that all of his crops will sell like the melons are and that the returns accordingly will be as large.

Mr. Cobbs, Mr. H. P. Foxhall and Mr. Sheppard, local tobacco warehousemen, it is not yet definitely known whether the Statesboro tobacco market will be given a second set of buyers this season or not. "There is still a chance that we will," said Mr. Cobbs, "but we cannot be certain."

Mr. Cobbs, Mr. H. P. Foxhall and Mr. Sheppard are in Statesboro now and are going about over the tobacco section. They all agree that there will be as much tobacco made this year as last year but it is curing out lighter than last year, with the quality not so good.

Keep every picking and barn of tobacco separate to do a good job of grading and sorting for market. W. L. Bradsher, Bureau of Agricultural Economics tobacco specialist, told the more than 150 Bulloch county tobacco growers attending the demonstrations Monday.

Three grading and sorting demonstrations were conducted Monday to initiate this series of educational meetings being held in various communities this week.

It is wise to sort tobacco as for grade such as vags, cutters, and leaf, then according to grade such as choice, fine, good, fair, and low, then for color such as lemon, orange and red, Mr. Bradsher stated.

Buyers have to look for the poorest quality in a pile of tobacco to bid on the goods offered for sale and as a result have to bid on the poorer grades, the specialist pointed out. Weed growers were urged to do everything possible to improve the quality of tobacco sold. Letting tobacco get high in order hurts the sale materially.

In riding by several fields of tobacco that had blooms in it prompted Mr. Bradsher to say that this was a bad practice. He declared that the blooms were taking up potash that would otherwise go to increasing the quality of tobacco harvested.

Demonstrations have been held at Carl Ler's, L. F. Martin's, Remer Clifton's, W. C. Atkins, J. A. Banks, and D. D. Rushing's already and will be continued through Thursday at H. H. Zetterover's in the afternoon and W. A. Groovers' in the afternoon.

Mr. Mathews filed with the Public Service Commission in Atlanta an application to discontinue the service in Brooklet on June 20, 1939. This has been set as the date for the hearing.

Mr. Mathews states that there are thirty-one subscribers in Brooklet and that one operator must be kept on duty all day and night. He pointed out that under the new Wage and Hour Bill he must pay 25 cents per hour for this operator and that one item of expense alone amounts to $2,191.15 for a year. This does not consider the additional taxes, restrictions and regulations imposed on his company by city, county and state and federal governments, and to continue operation would entail consistent losses to his company.

The people of Brooklet have had two mass meetings and have named committees to confer with Mr. Mathews in an attempt to retain the phone service. S. R. Kennedy, J. H. Griffith, R. H. Warnock and Harry Lee are to present Brooklet's side of the problem. They claim to discontinue their phone service would amount almost to a calamity in that community. That it would be impossible to conduct its affairs without immediate assistance from the surrounding communities.

This case is one of a number of such cases over the state at this time.

STATESBORO, GEORGIA, THURSDAY, JULY 13, 1939.

NUMBER 17.

GETTING READY FOR TOBACCO MARKET OPENING JULY 25

THROUGHOUT Bulloch county the golden weed is being hauled to the tying sheds and curing barns in tobacco sleds. The view above shows George W. Whaley and his son, Frank Whaley, Jr., with a sled load they have just completed in the fields, enroute to the barn. This is a typical scene in Bulloch county as the tobacco growers all over the county are getting their weed ready for the opening of the market, July 25.

Second Set Of Buyers Still Uncertain

According to statements made yesterday by Mr. W. E. Cobb, and R. E. Sheppard, local tobacco warehousemen, it is not yet definitely known whether the Statesboro tobacco market will be given a second set of buyers this season or not. "There is still a chance that we will," said Mr. Cobb, "but we cannot be certain."

Bulloch County Teachers Receive Small Pay Check

Bulloch county school teachers were receiving checks from the County School Superintendent at the first of the week.

Mr. Womack received a check for $15,250 this week to make a payment to the teachers and take care of a part of the administrative cost of the county school system.

The teachers were paid the balance of the money for the month of January of this year, (they already having been paid for half the month) and thirty percent of the amount due them for the month of February.

This is the first money the teachers of this county have received since February 14, 1939.

There is no indication of when the balance due them will be paid.

NEGRO BORROWS MODEL T; CRASHES AND DIES

A negro known as B. Bird died as the result of an automobile wreck which happened about one and one-half miles from Statesboro near H. A. Dotson's home.

It is said the negro "borrowed" without the owners' knowledge, a model T to use on the Fourth of July. He was on his way to his home when the car turned turtle.

Mr. Dotson brought the negro to the hospital where he was admitted for treatment. Wednesday he left the hospital without the hospital authorities knowing it and went home, where he died Thursday morning.

The meeting Friday marked the seventh year of cooperative buying, selling and activities of the Ivanhoe club. The club started July 4, 1932. The late John W. Davis and now Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Harry L. Brown developed plans for the club in June, 1932. Mr. Brown, then assistant director of the Extension Service in Georgia, came to the community after members of the present club had requested some assistance from the Extension Service in helping to get the club organized.

W. A. Groover, the club leader, expressed the desire to see the new project of a health center be made a major activity and urged the members to cooperate to make a success.

JOHN EDWIN BOWEN KEEPS COMMISSION

According to an announcement made last week it was stated Mr. John Edwin Bowen, owner of Northern's Cleaners, had enlisted in the Regular Army Reserve.

Mr. Bowen wishes it to be understood that this enlistment does not mean that he is to leave Statesboro, but merely means that his enlistment will keep his Reserve Commission in good standing.

Dr. Whitman and his staff are doing a great work for Bulloch county and his death is a stamp out every type of communicable disease is for the ultimate benefit of the people of the county.

Health Center At Ivanhoe

The Ivanhoe community will have a health center located at the club house, if tentative plans made at the meeting Friday can be perfected.

Dr. O. F. Whitman, county health commissioner, agreed to work with the community on this cooperative project. Details of the plan will be worked out during the next few days. However, to start the project, a typhoid clinic will be held at the club house Friday, July 14, from 2 p. m. on through the afternoon. At the last clinic of this type held in the Ivanhoe community 287 people were given the vaccine for typhoid fever. The members of the community will bring in the tenants on their farms for the clinic.

The meeting Friday marked the seventh year of cooperative buying, selling and activities of the Ivanhoe club. The club started July 4, 1932. The late John W. Davis and now Assistant Secretary of Agriculture, Harry L. Brown developed plans for the club in June, 1932. Following the picnic dinner and ice cream were served.

ELBERTA PEACHES GROW ABUNDANTLY IN BULLOCH

Bulloch county will grow peaches as good as any other section of the state as far as size, quality, and color is concerned, if George Scarborough's few trees at Aaron can be taken as an example.

About seven years ago these Elberta trees were planted and started bearing in 1935.

No special care other than fertilizer and pruning has been given to these trees since they were transplanted. The Elbertas now on the trees compare favorably with the best quality of peaches grown in Georgia. Mr. Scarborough believes that it is possible for every Bulloch county farmer to have a home orchard since these trees are doing so well.

Typhoid Clinic July 14

According to a statement made by Dr. O. F. Whitman, county Health Commissioner, several cases of typhoid fever have been reported to the health department here within the past few days.

Dr. Whitman urges every person to see his or her family physician for typhoid vaccines or come to the Health Department Clinic to be held Friday morning, July 14, between the hours of 9 and 12 o'clock.

FIRST FEDERAL SAVINGS AND LOAN ASSOCIATION

This month the officers of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association sent out checks amounting to $2,288.18 representing a 4 per cent per annum dividend, payable semi-annually.

We congratulate the officers of this institution on its excellent showing, enabling it to make this contribution to the growth of the county. This dividend, as do all of its dividends, represents money earned on purely local money, invested purely locally.

The First Federal Savings and Loan Association was organized in August of 1936 and since that date has steadily grown. It fills a definite need in Statesboro, since it makes loans to build new homes and furnishes money to re-finance homes, and the payments are arranged so "it is just like paying rent" to use a trite phrase.

Besides making loans the First Federal Savings and Loan Association has a choice of savings plans one of which enables an investor to put aside savings on a regular monthly basis with assurance of its safety, since savings with the Association are insured up to $5,000. They have never missed paying a dividend. A great many people in both Statesboro and Bulloch county have realized the value of such a savings plan as offered by the Association.

HE FIGHTS BUT NEVER WINS

Bulloch county farmers are becoming conscious of the fact that their strength lies in organization. For the past several weeks, weekly meetings have been held at the court house on Saturday afternoons. Tuesday night of this week a meeting was held here in Statesboro for the promotion of their growing organization.

In the June issue of the Southern Agriculturist there is an editorial which we pass on to the farmers of this county. It is thought provoking and in view of the facts presented in it, THE BULLOCH HERALD cannot think of a better service it could render than to urge the farmers of this county to join and earnestly co-operate with the Bulloch county chapter of the United Georgia Farmers. For through it they can render many valuable services that the farmer can never get fighting alone.

"The most consistent loser we know anything about is the unorganized, non-co-operating farmer. It is not because the unorganized farmer is lacking in fighting spirit or in meritorious cause that he fails to win. It is due to lack of unity, understanding, planning and generalship among the multitude of unorganized individuals who have a common cause to battle for and a common enemy to overcome.

"Ever since civilization began, people have found it necessary to resort to group action in order to protect themselves and further their common interests. Communities, cities and nations that have been best organized and secured the highest degree of co-operation from the citizenship are the ones able to offer the greatest security for their citizens, the best education for their children and the highest standard of living for all classes. Farmers, as a whole, have failed to learn this lesson and are still trying to solve their many gigantic problems without working together in mutual accord. Much progress has been made in organizing agriculture in recent years, but many major benefits resulting therefrom, but the vast majority of farmers still seem to believe they can successfully fight their battles single-handed.

"The farmer of the future who insists that he can live to himself, is smart enough to make a success without aid from any other source, will soon be eating the heel-dust from the procession of organized farmers; for agriculture must meet efficient, closely-organized, well-directed industry and labor with like weapons—efficiency, leadership, organization.

"Through organized effort the farmer can write into law beneficial legislation that is fair to all classes; federal aid and services can be used more advantageously; rural social life can be greatly improved; markets can be enlarged and profits increased, and the standard of citizenship and living can be raised.

And along comes our correspondent from Denmark and tells us that a cow belonging to W. L. Zetterover gave birth to twin calves. Maybe Mr. Zetterover's cow has been reading some of our "Crazy News" and not to be outdone, up and goes the craziest story one better.

Miss Elsie Waters, who sends us news from Denmark Community, was in to see us Saturday morning. She was all full of news so we asked her to wait and put it on paper and send it to us so that we would be sure and get it all. She likes to write and we like for her to write, so we come out even.

And if some of the ladies of Bulloch county could have seen the program at the Rotary Club Monday we are sure they would have appreciated it. Ronald Nell with the help of a number of the young ladies of the College gave a demonstration of how singing was taught one hundred years ago.

Which reminds us of the singing convention to be held at Warnock School, July 23.

And the boys at camp are a-marching, a-marching and a-marching. And we bet it's as hot as a fire popper down at Pensacola. And they do say that when you're in the army you get up early.

Mr. Olin Griner gave a bunch of us city knockers an idea of how a Bulloch county farmer lives. Monday night of this week when he and his good wife were host and hostess to the meeting of the Child Health and Welfare Council. The ladies of our rural communities can be just as charming hostesses as our society editor says our ladies in Statesboro can be. And we don't know but what we like their hostessing a little bit better for when they serve, it is something other than a "delicious salad course was served by the hostess assisted by . . .". Boy when our rural hostesses serve they really serve—fried chicken and all that goes with it.

FIRESIDE HEALTH CHAT

By Dr. O. F. Whitman,

WHEN TO CALL THE DOCTOR

Of course we always send for the doctor when a member of the family seems very sick. When, however, the illness seems slight, the question of whether or not to send for him is a very difficult and important one to decide. We all know that there are a few serious conditions requiring prompt treatment which the first symptoms are very slight and mild. In other words there are occasionally cases of apparently slight illness where the prompt calling of a physician means the prevention of a serious illness or even the saving of life.

In order to avoid serious mistakes, we must frequently send for a physician for illnesses which prove to be trivial and which would correct themselves without any medical aid. We must consider that the physician's fee under such circumstances is a form of insurance which has protected us against the possibility of a terrible loss.

It is our purpose to suggest here a few of the symptoms which are danger signals of troubles which require prompt medical attention.

SORE THROATS

One of the serious mistakes that are not infrequently made is failure to send for a physician for a sore throat, especially for those cases where there are white spots to be seen. The danger of this is that diphtheria often begins as a simple sore throat, indistinguishable except by means of a culture from an ordinary sore throat or tonsillitis. If recognized early, diphtheria can be very effectively treated by antitoxin. If allowed to go on untreated for several days, the patient may be so severely poisoned by the disease that the heart ceases to act, or the membrane may obstruct the windpipe and suffocate the patient. In the majority of fatal cases of diphtheria the family have not called the doctor promptly enough.

Sometimes in diphtheria there is no sore throat but the membrane begins out of sight in the larynx or windpipe, and the child becomes croupy. Croup, in a child, which comes on at night and is better by day is rarely diphtheria, but if the croupiness comes on by day or if it continues during the day, a physician should always be called at once.

RASHES

It is very difficult for anyone not a physician to make a diagnosis of the contagious diseases. Even slight rashes should be seen promptly by a physician because they often disappear quickly and then it is impossible to determine what the disease has been. Scarlet fever is often overlooked in this way, the true nature of the disease first becoming evident when a serious complication develops or when another case comes down in the same family. For the protection of the patient, the family, and the community, a physician should be called promptly for a rash.

COUGHS, COLDS, FEVER

It may not be necessary to send for a physician for every "cold", especially if one will take proper care of himself. Care is very necessary when there is fever and general aching and it should be an invariable rule to stay in bed when there is any fever; in this way many cases of pneumonia would be prevented.

A physician should always be sent for when the temperature is considerable (whether accompanied by a cold or not) or persists for more than twenty-four hours; also where there are chills, pain in the chest, or rapid and labored breathing.

Furthermore, we should always consult a physician for a cough that persists for more than two weeks, and return for repeated examinations until the cough is cured. Never neglect a cough!

Abdominal Pain
Some of the most serious mistakes that are made result from failure to call a physician promptly for abdominal pain. Pain in the abdomen from whatever cause is usually at first thought to be due to indigestion and to gas. The reason for this is that when there is inflammation anywhere in the abdomen the bowels contract irregularly and the gas, always present in them, does not move along freely but gets pent up. One's natural inclination under such circumstances is to take a laxative, but this is often the worst thing to do, because it usually increases the pain and tends to spread the inflammation which nature is trying to wall off.

Severe pain due to indigestion is very rare except after some very obvious indiscretion of diet as in the case of the small boy who had eaten green apples.

Among the causes of abdominal pain which requires prompt treatment is appendicitis. The pain here is not always in the right lower quadrant of the abdomen but often at the start it is in the upper part or even at times on the left side. Obstruction of the bowels, and perforation of the stomach or bowels, are other causes of acute abdominal pain which require prompt treatment if the patient is to recover. Gall stones, inflammation of the gall bladder, stones in the urinary passages are some of the other important causes of abdominal pain. Even where no immediate operation is necessary, it may be only during the time of an acute attack that a correct diagnosis can be made. CALL a physician at once for severe abdominal pain, and don't give a laxative.

SEPSIS, BLOOD-POISONING
We all know the dangers of infected wounds. For their prevention the prompt treatment of every wound, except the more trivial ones, by a physician is most essential. It is very important that a physician should be called for these wounds into which dirt, particles of clothing, or other foreign material have been driven. Any wound, however slight, which begins to throb and be painful should have prompt surgical attention.

Giant's Causeway Formed

Through Basalt upheaval

The formation of the Giant's Causeway, according to geologists, is the result of an upheaval of basalt along the northern coast of Ireland which occurred during the Tertiary period. This left a weird and unusual promontory of broken pillars in a series of cliffs which project into the North channel near Bangor Head, about eight miles from Portrush.

When the volcanoes of this district were in activity they sent out showers of lava over nearly the whole county of Antrim and the adjoining parts of Londonderry and Tyrone. Their molten masses were poured out over the chalk that lies deep below, and ages of erosion have left the cold and rigid column seen today.

Within an area of several hundred square yards there are some 40,000 of these pillar-shaped rocks and they are cut as if by mathematical calculation. They range in diameter from 15 to 30 inches, most of them being six-sided, although some have five, seven, eight, and even nine regularly formed sides. Some are 20 feet in height.

The Giant's Causeway received its name from a legend that this group of basaltic rocks was once the site of a bridge or causeway over which giants passed between Ireland and Scotland.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Nature's Freaks Seen on

Trips to Bermuda Islands

Mother Nature has showered a choice group of "Believe It or Not" on the Bermuda Islands. There are many oddities in flora and fauna on the "Acredia in the Mid-Atlantic," according to Ernest C. Riedel, a writer who has spent much time in Bermuda.

There are, for instance: The thistle plant with yellow flowers, altogether unlike the American thistle. It has no thorns and is tender enough to be eaten by rabbit and fowl.

Hibiscus hedges—as fast as they are trimmed of flowers, they are replaced overnight by flowers, and grow to an enormous size. The traveler's tree, so called because it gives drinkable water when tapped.

The honey-puzzle tree, so called because its trunk is covered with thorns—and is therefore unclimbable.

The air pine vine which grows only upon boards, wires, dead wood and tin.

The "plume" of the bamboo or cane, which dried and dipped in dye, makes an ornament that lasts for years.

The small vine, "rock sample," which many natives brew as a substitute for tea and coffee.

The dried calabash. Hang it in a tree and the wrens will take possession of it as a home.

Airplane's History

Credit for invention of the airplane is given Orville and Wilbur Wright of Dayton, Ohio. Others before them attempted to solve the problems of artificial flight among whom were Lilienthal and Chanute, with gliders; Adair, Maxim, and Langley built power-driven machines which were usually destroyed by accidents at the first trial. The Wright brothers found after many tests that the current theories were in part correct, but merely guess work to a great extent. They turned their attention toward means of securing stability of a machine when in the air, and succeeded in developing a system of maintaining balance and control by bending or warping the ends of the planes and using an elevating rudder in front. They achieved their first successful flights, which were from 15 to 30 seconds, at Kitty Hawk, N. C., on December 17, 1903.

Raw Materials Insurance

Deficient in 21 "strategic" raw materials essential for the manufacture of war-time necessities, the United States buys these materials from far-off sources in Europe and Asia, ships them home by way of such strategically vulnerable waters as the Black sea, the Suez canal and the Mediterranean. Manganese, essential for the manufacture of steel, is secured from distant Russia, India and Africa, only to a lesser extent from Brazil and Cuba. Solution of one of America's prime defense problems was recently brought nearer when the American-owned Cuban-American Manganese corporation reported that it had cut costs of producing high-grade ore to the point that it is able to compete with foreign producers even in the face of low world prices.

Travel Innovation

A travel innovation that appeals to people who know how to ride and who enjoy country days in the saddle, is the European horseback tour. Initiated in Hungary two years ago, it has spread to England and Sweden, with Ireland and Norway added this year to the growing list. Trips, at least the riding part, are limited to seven days, for, as pointed out by a representative of the London firm routing them, that is about all the average horseman or horsewoman can stand without undue strain. Approximately 25 miles are covered daily, and the nights are spent in different places—castles, manors and village inns. Expert horsemen, frequently an ex-cavalry officer, are in charge of the parties.

Make Your Plans To

STEADY! THERE'S GOD.

How often have youth with its strength and ability shrugged its shoulders when the comfort of religion is offered. "Comfort," they say. "What do you mean—comfort? We need no such thing for we are well able to take care of ourselves. Take your 'comfort' and lavish it upon those who are old, and decrepit, and have about run their course. Give us the dare, the challenge, an outlet for our surging vitality!"

Well, their calm confidence and daring ultimatum issued to life is refreshing, and enheartening to their brothers who have, for a long time now, taken the drubbing which life is capable of giving without mercy; but maybe these youngbloods might do well to remember that not even they can endure the monotonous flapping of the years in their own strength, great as that strength is.

For instance, there is a very tiny, insignificant-looking balancing apparatus in the structure of the ear whose function is to enable us to balance ourselves, walk steadily and go whithersoever we like. This little anatomical arrangement can become deranged and where are we? How dependent we are, all of us, on God! Thirty centuries ago a young man said: "God is a shelter and stronghold for us; we shall find Him very near; therefore we never fear."

Without God a little thing may wreck us; with Him the world is ours.

For cereals or a mixture of cereals and legumes, 60 to 70 pounds of molasses to the ton of green feed should be used in making silage.

Under the 1939 crop insurance program, 163,000 wheat farmers insured a production of 70,000,000 bushels by paying approximately 7,000,000 bushels into the insurance reserve.

Farmers participating in the 1937 AAA Farm Program carried out erosion control practices on nearly 7,000,000 acres of their land.

Ants Harmful to Plants

Dr. Julius Herzog of Breslau university, Berlin, says ants are robbers. True, ants in the garden do some good by keeping off certain insect pests. But they carefully cherish one of the worst pests of all, aphids or plant lice, from whose bodies they draw a fluid they like, as human beings get milk from cows. The amount of plant sap carried off by a colony of ants, through the medium of aphids, is measurable in quarts during a growing season.—Science Service.

Georgia farm families are busy preparing to attend the annual Farm and Home Week in Athens August 7 to 12. Many are planning their farm week so as to have a free week in which to attend the meeting in Athens. Farm families from all over the state gather on the College of Agriculture campus at the University of Georgia to take part in farm and home programs. Inspect the college farm, and hear outstanding farm leaders from various sections of the county. And while the farmers and their wives are engaged in attending meetings, their boys and girls will be taking part in the annual conference of the State 4-H club council, which meets in conjunction with Farm and Home Week.

Many Georgia ginners are installing cotton gins in their gins. J. C. Oglesbee, Jr., of Tifton, agricultural engineer for the Georgia Extension Service reports. County Agent H. M. Morris and citizens of Fannin county are discussing plans for installing a community refrigerator. This is additional evidence of the keen interest being shown in rural electrification in that section of the state. J. L. Calhoun, rural electrification specialist for the Georgia Agricultural Extension Service, recently conferred with the agent and citizens in connection with the electrification projects in the county.

The 1939 spring pig crop (farrowed from December 1, 1938 to June 1, 1939) in Georgia is six percent above the crop of last year and 41 percent larger than the 10-year (1928-37) average crop, according to the Georgia Crop Reporting Service. Georgia's 1939 crop is placed at 1,187,000 head. D. L. Lloyd, agricultural statistician, and his assistant, George B. Strong, compiled the June pig report, which is based on information obtained from a large number of farmers. The number of sows farrowed in Georgia this spring is estimated at 212,000 head, or 12 percent above the 189,000 farrowed one year ago and 42 percent larger than the 10-year (1928-37) spring farrowings. Breeding intentions indicate 186,000 sows to farrow in the fall season of 1939 (June 1 to December 1), which is 15 percent above the 162,000 sows farrowed in the fall of 1938, and 58 percent larger than the 10-year (1928-37) average.

Miss Leone Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Johnson, was one of the forty-two graduates of Draughan's Business College in Savannah, June 15. Miss Johnson finished Statesboro High School in 1937.

Winter Peas Land Builder

That Austrian Winter peas are good land builders even for cotton may be seen in the demonstration carried on by W. H. Smith in 1939.

The 56 acres of cotton located in the City Limits of Statesboro near Statesboro Industrial school looks like it will average better than a bale of cotton to the acre, except for one small strip about four yards wide and 100 yards long where no Austrian Winter peas were turned this spring.

In planting the peas last fall, seed ran out of the planter before the operator knew it. The peas were turned this spring in April and the field planted to cotton. Today the field right up to the check plot out in the middle of the field is equal to no other cotton patch in the county as far as seed or fruit is concerned. The plot where the peas were missing is just ordinary to fair cotton.

Austrian Winter peas are usually planted in the fall to be followed by Mr. Smith has to plant this field in cotton year in and year out due to the lack of leaching on it and for that reason planted the Austrian peas to give him something to turn under on the land.

COMPARATIVE COSTS OF POSTCARDS, CIRCULAR LETTERS & NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

If a merchant mails out, say 500 postcards to his prospective buyers, the postage alone will cost ..... $5.00
If he uses the same comparative space in his home newspaper the newspaper advertising, with three times the local coverage, will cost .... $3.00
By using the newspaper, he saves .... $2.00

If he sends out 500 circular letters in envelopes, unsealed, the postage alone will cost ..... $7.50
Cost of paper, & envelopes about .... $3.00
He can tell the same story using his home newspaper with cleaner print and better display for about .... $4.00
By using the newspaper, he saves ..... $6.50

If he uses postcards, his message to the prospective buyer must be printed, type-written, mimeographed or written by hand and this takes time, labor and extra expense.

If he sends out circular letters, he must first buy the paper and envelopes, then typewrite, print or write by hand the same message the newspaper printer does for him in an advertisement AT LESS COST.

COMPARATIVE VALUES

Nearly every mail is flooded with postcard, circular and what-not advertising. Frequency and consequent familiarity to the recipient breeds lack of interest in that form of advertising to the careful buyer. The result is that a large portion of this advertising finds its resting place in the waste basket unread.

Not so with The Bulloch Herald. Each issue is taken to the home to stay there for a week or more, ready for perusal or verification of some item, handy to settle an argument, used to refresh the memory as to what particular item was offered for sale by this or that merchant.

NOT AN EXPERIMENT

Newspaper advertising has long ago passed the experimental stage. Successful business firms of all kinds, have long ago established the fact that newspaper advertising does pay. They become big concerns by believing in and using advertising space.

Any business worth having is worth advertising. The Bulloch Herald will be glad to assist in preparing copy. Advertising has paid others—IT WILL PAY YOU TOO!

STATESBORO TOBACCO WAREHOUSES TO BEGIN RECEIVING GOLDEN WEED FRIDAY MORNING JULY 21

Bob Sheppard Returns For Eighth Year

When the tobacco market opens here next Tuesday, July 25, R. E. (Bob) Sheppard will begin his eighth consecutive season on the Statesboro Tobacco Market.

Last year Mr. Sheppard used for the first time his new warehouse which is the largest in the State of Georgia. It contains 105,000 square feet of floor space and is lighted on a scientific basis which makes it one of the best lighted warehouses in the state. This lighting system produces a soft, mellow light which shows the tobacco on the floor at its very best, bringing out its best color and grade, thus assuring the grower the maximum price for his tobacco. The system is worked out on a scientific basis and is the only one like it in this section.

Mr. Sheppard comes here from Kinston, N. C., where he operates a warehouse. He has been identified with tobacco for twenty-one years and is recognized as one of the best men in the business. He has operated houses at Matter and Claxton, coming to Statesboro in 1933.

Mr. Sheppard, who is well and favorably known, has a great number of friends in the tobacco counties in this section. He is known for his friendliness and willingness to help the tobacco farmer to the limit. He has earned the reputation of being one of the hardest working warehousemen in the business.

The personnel of Mr. Sheppard's warehouse this year includes: Aubert J. Brannen, assistant sales manager; O. G. Rucker, auctioneer; Allie Hart, clipman; Frank Laws, office manager; "Shorty" Conwell, bookman; Dan Taylor, ticket marker; Prentiss Woolen, pay-off man; W. E. Taylor, utility man; Paul Robertson, Skimmer Wooten and James Pratt, scalers; Lloyd Malpass and Bruce Taylor, floormen.

EXPECTED HERE FOR BIG RALLY

R. M. STILES
President of Georgia United Farmers who is expected to be here when Bulloch county celebrates its 1,000 members of that organization.

The Bulloch Herald Again Leads Parade Of Progress

The Bulloch Herald again leads the parade of progress. For the third consecutive year The Bulloch Herald has been designated by the Statesboro Tobacco Warehousemen as the Official Statesboro Tobacco Market Newspaper. This means that all official news coming from the local market will be carried in the columns of this paper. For the next four weeks The Bulloch Herald's circulation will be doubled. This paper will go into more than 4500 homes in this county and five surrounding counties.

The steady growth of The Bulloch Herald during the past three years has been an outstanding feat in the annals of the Georgia Weekly Field. It is today recognized as one of the leading weeklies in the whole State of Georgia.

This week's special edition contains twenty-four pages, carrying the advertising of every leading business in Statesboro. The prime motive of this issue and the next four is to promote the Statesboro Tobacco Market.

This week we join every tobacco grower in this section in extending a hearty welcome to Mr. W. E. Cobb, Mr. H. P. Foxhall, Mr. R. E. Sheppard, their families, and the personnel of their warehouses, together with the buyers who come to this market.

Resolution Asks For More Buyers

At a meeting of the Bulloch chapter of the United Georgia Farmers here Saturday a resolution was drawn up and adopted urging the tobacco companies to assign two sets of tobacco buyers on the Statesboro market this season.

The resolution was mailed to each company represented on the Statesboro market. The resolution pointed out that the production of tobacco in this county and adjacent trade territory had increased to such an extent that for the past two years, the marketing facilities provided by the warehouses have been altogether inadequate to handle the sales in a manner satisfactory to the growers. It having been necessary in the majority of cases to wait for four to seven days after placing the tobacco on the warehouse floors before it could be marketed for sale.

The resolution further stated that because of the congestion here many of the growers in this section were forced to haul their tobacco to other markets at a greater distance. It added that the same condition will probably exist here this year because of the increase in acreage.

Mr. Bradsher urged the farmers attending the meetings to do everything possible to improve the looks of their tobacco, such as keeping all of the tobacco of a particular kind, picking, and barn separate and sorting the off color out to sheets of that particular grade. Pulling the burned tips off of lugs will increase the sale value materially, according to Mr. Bradsher. Mixing green tobacco with lemon or orange colors is a bad practice if the highest price is to be had.

Two filed practices Mr. Bradsher said were hurting Bulloch county tobacco growers' prices. One was leaving suckers on the stalk and the blooms in the tops. The practices, according to the specialist, takes from the quality of the tobacco sold. The blooms particularly take up lost of potash that the leaf should have. Another practice found in many instances that was undesirable and hurt the sale of tobacco was that of tying the hands too far down on the leaf which gave the stamp end of the leaf a very green appearance due to the bruising of the tobacco.

Barns were often found with too much tobacco in them for the best cure. He urged the farmers attending the demonstrations to put fewer hands on the stick and fewer sticks in the barn.

Mr. Groover announced that members of the committee that would help assemble data during the morning of July 29 and hold a meeting at 3 p. m. that date to assemble the material for presentation at the regular meeting that afternoon.

H. P. Foxhall, local tobacco warehouseman, urged Bulloch county farmers to join with their organization. He pointed out that a similar organization in North Carolina controlled state and national legislation that affected the farmers of that section. A strong farm organization can do many things, according to Mr. Foxhall, that individual farmers cannot hope to do.

Cobb, Foxhall Here For Twelfth Season

Cobb and Foxhall is becoming to be almost one name on the Statesboro Tobacco Market.

With the opening here next Tuesday, July 25th, Mr. W. E. Cobb will see his twelfth season and Mr. H. P. Foxhall his ninth season on the local market. Both of these men have had over twenty years experience in the operation of tobacco sales warehouses in Georgia and North Carolina. In addition to the two warehouses they operate in Statesboro they also operate two warehouses in Rocky Mount, N. C., one of the largest markets in North Carolina. In 1938 Messrs Cobb and Foxhall purchased the two warehouses formerly owned by the local corporation and this year they will again operate these as two separate warehouses, Nos. 1 and 2.

Both Mr. Cobb and Mr. Foxhall have been very active for the past six months in trying to get the second set of buyers for the Statesboro market and they feel that before this season is over their efforts will meet with success.

Cobb & Foxhall will again have their usual efficient and courteous personnel which includes E. A. Farlow, Auctioneer; J. L. Delbridge, Office Manager; R. A. Bynum, Pay-off Man; Mr. Daniel Bowman, Mr. Valentine, Ticket Marker; William Harrison, In Charge Leaf; Erastus Alken, Day Floor Manager; J. B. Iler, Night Floor Manager and others.

A.R. Shirley At Farm Meeting

Bulloch county will have a county-wide forest fire protection program if the members of the local chapter of United Georgia Farmers attending Saturday's meeting have their say about the matter.

Following a short discussion of the economic value of forestry by A. R. Shirley, extension forester, and the details of how to set up an approved unit whereby state and federal cooperation in financing the program by George Moseley, district forester, a committee was appointed to work out the details necessary for presentation to the body July 29. W. A. Groover was appointed as chairman of the committee. To work with Mr. Groover were John M. Hendrix, L. F. Martin, C. J. Martin, J. E. Hodges, W. C. Hodges, and Dr. R. J. Kennedy. Mr. Smith requested that the county agent, farm supervisor and vocational agricultural teachers assist the committee.

Mr. Groover announced that members of the committee that would help assemble data during the morning of July 29 and hold a meeting at 3 p. m. that date to assemble the material for presentation at the regular meeting that afternoon.

Every concern in the world using Georgia tobacco in their products is represented.

Growers Advised To Put More Tobacco On Baskets For Sale

ACCORDING TO AN ANNOUNCEMENT MADE THIS WEEK BY MR. H. P. FOXHALL OF COBB AND FOXHALL TOBACCO WAREHOUSE, AND MR. R. E. SHEPPARD OF SHEPPARD'S WAREHOUSE, THEY WILL RECEIVE TOBACCO IN THEIR WAREHOUSES FRIDAY MORNING OF THIS WEEK (JULY 21).

The warehouses have been cleaned out and will be ready to receive the growers' tobacco as fast as they bring it in beginning Friday morning.

The warehousemen pointed out that the buying companies prefer tobacco packed in piles of one hundred pounds or over. They added that it will be to the grower's advantage to avoid packing of small piles for sale and have as large piles as possible without mixing the grades.

Mr. Foxhall and Mr. Sheppard said that each company buying tobacco on the Statesboro market has given their positive assurance that they will keep their buyers on this market until all of the tobacco is sold.

He will be in a position to discuss the farm program as well as answer questions that local farmers may desire to ask.
